

SUPPORT THE ARENA

The Highland Arena is an exciting and innovative project that will transform lives right across the North of Scotland. It combines ‘state of the art’ regional sports and wellness facilities with a large-scale community entertainment and events space.

A bold addition to the established leisure complex at the Bught, Inverness, it will include –

ATHLETICS : Indoor sprint track, jumps/throws, warm up facilities

CYCLING : 250m UCI standard velodrome

GYMNASTICS : Pitted gym suitable for all Olympic disciplines

JUDO : Dojo with 2.5 mat areas

TENNIS : Four indoor tennis courts

WELLBEING : Strength & conditioning suite, studios, sports science support

ARENA : Showcase Conference/Shows/Events venue catering for 3-5000 persons

Conceived by the Highland Council, the new Arena could be ready and open for community use by 2020. The projected cost of £23m. can be substantially offset by extensive grants from sportscotland, public agencies, ERDF and charities, plus donations from business, philanthropic and community sources.

BUT time is fast running out and major budget cuts are expected at the Council meeting on 15 February 2018. It’s vital that everyone who enjoys any sports & leisure activity should register their support with local Councillors before that date. There is a helpful ‘toolkit’ to allow representations to be emailed to local elected Members (visit www.hivelo.co.uk)
